How should I prepare?

A study booklet is available and can be purchased at stores listed below. If it is the first time taking HESI, it is recommended you take BIOL2401 and BIOL2402 before taking the HESI exam. HESI includes a component of Anatomy & Physiology.

HESI Admission Assessment Exam Review, latest edition. With content review and sample test questions, this study guide helps students prepare for the Exam.

May be purchased at:

- Evolve Website
- Any major bookstore or website
- Other resources you can use to prepare for the exam are Quizlet.com, Kahnsacademy.org, YouTube, and HESI A2 apps.

What scores do I have to attain on the HESI A2 Exam?

Each section must be passed with a 75% or higher. Below is an example of the HESI Exam formula for the ADN Program application.

Example

Section	Score
English Language Composite Score (all 7 exams)	75%
Science Composite Score: Anatomy & Physiology only	80%
Math Score	88%
	243 / 3 = 81%

Add and divide by 3 to determine average score and points on the application

HESI Points awarded based on Average

- 100% - 90% = 3 points
- 89% - 83% = 2 points
- 82% - 75% = 1 point

When will I receive my exam scores?

Exam scores are available immediately after completion of the exam. If you are unsure if you passed your HESI Exam, please visit the ADN Advisor for clarification. Your scores are also available on your HESI account.

I misplaced/lost my HESI scores?

You have access to your scores 24/7 through the Evolve Elsevier website.

Do I have to take HESI before I register for the Intro to Nursing course?

Yes, HESI is the prerequisite for RNSG1209 Introduction to Nursing course. You must pass all sections before registering for this course.

Can I have a slot reserved while I take RNSG1209 Intro to Nursing?

No, you must first pass HESI on all sections before being allowed to register for the course.

Do I have to take HESI A2 if I have a degree already?

Students who have attained a doctoral, masters, bachelors, associates and/or a certificate are still required to take the HESI exam. All students applying to the Associate Degree Nursing Programs are required to take HESI and meet the passing scores, no exceptions.

What if I don't pass the HESI Exam the first time?

You may retake the HESI Version 2 Exam after 2-3 weeks waiting period. You will retest with a different version (version 2) of the exam— no student will have the same exam items twice.

If you fail the exam on the second attempt, you must wait until the next eligibility period to test. You can test for HESI A2 Exam six times per year, which is two times per eligibility period.

You can repeat the exam if you scored under 75% on a required section and repeat that section within the same “eligibility period” as the first exam. The passing grade will replace the failing grade if the initial and the retake is within the same eligibility period. If student decides or wishes to improve scores (on either version 1 or version 2), the highest score of 75% or better will be taken into consideration within the same eligibility period.

Eligibility periods are: January 1 through May 31
June 1 through August 31
September 1 through December 31

When can I register for Introduction to Nursing?

Introduction to Nursing is for Traditional Track students. Please bring your scores to the NAH Campus and see ADN Advisor for written approval to register in person for the course.

Do I have to pay for the entire exam if I retest?

Yes, the exam is the same fee whether you test for all sections of the exam or retest on a section(s). Please make sure your first exam and retest is within the same eligibility period.

How long are my A2 Exam scores valid?

HESI scores are valid for 2 years from the time of completion.
